RAMBO MICKLEM

MORE COMFORTABLE, MORE HUMANE

Fitting the Bridle

Fitting the Bit Straps

Fit the bit straps to your bit first, with the buckle on the outside and the end of the strap facing upwards, then attach to the bridle using the bit rings at the bottom of the cheek pieces.

Positioning the Front Nose Piece

The key to fitting your Rambo® Micklem Multibridle is to ensure that the front nosepiece is approx 2 to 3 inches higher than the corners of the mouth and at least six fingers above the nostrils.

Doing the Top Back Straps

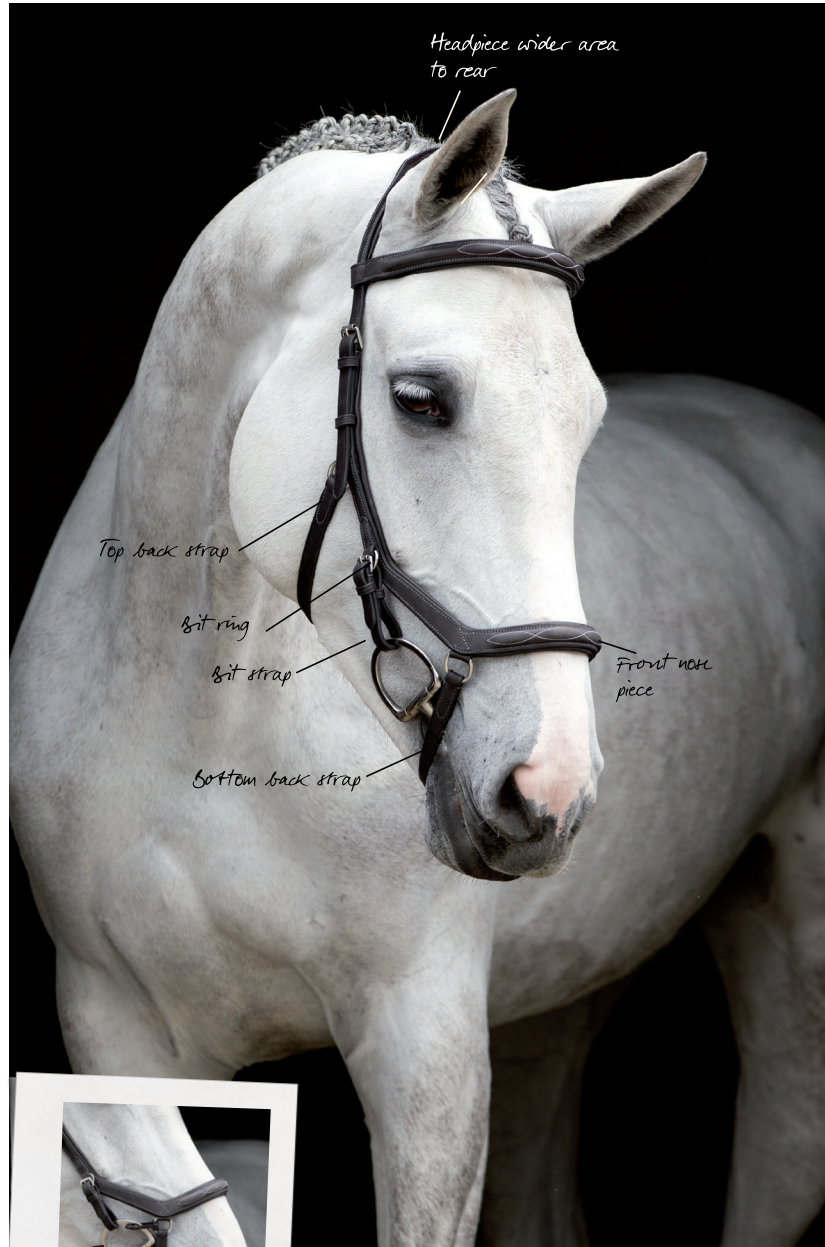

This should be fastened flush with the skin, not loose like a throat lash.

Doing the Bottom Back Straps

This fits like a standard dropped noseband, underneath the bit and flush with the skin.

Fitting the Tongue and Bar Protector

Use the appropriate length clips to join the bit to the side rings and you have a unique tongue and bar protection system.
